DIABETES AND BAD CHOLESTEROL INFORMATION PRESCRIPTION

Your last cholesterol reading is: Total HDL

People with diabetes and high levels of bad cholesterol are at higher risk of having a heart attack or stroke. By lowering your bad cholesterol, you can dramatically reduce your risk.

What is cholesterol?

Cholesterol is a type of fat in the blood. Sometimes it is called lipids. There is good cholesterol and bad cholesterol. HDL (high-density lipoprotein) is good cholesterol which helps protect you from heart disease. Both triglycerides and LDL (low-density lipoprotein) are bad for you.

When is cholesterol a problem?

Too much bad cholesterol in the blood causes fatty material to build up in the blood vessels supplying the brain and heart, making them narrower. This can lead to a blockage in blood vessels, which can cause a heart attack or stroke.

How can I lower my bad cholesterol?

You can make changes that lower your risk of having a heart attack or stroke.

- ☐ Most people need a medication to lower their bad cholesterol – the most common is a statin. These have been proven to lower cholesterol. Most people do not experience side-effects: if you do it is important to speak to your doctor as they can find a medication that suits you.

Keep to a healthy weight

- ☐ Reduce the size of your portions and cut down on fatty and sugary foods.

Eat a healthy balanced diet

- ☐ Eat less fatty foods, processed meats, full-fat dairy, pastries and cakes.
☐ Include wholegrains and pulses.
☐ Eat more fish, particularly oily fish – aim for at least two portions a week.
☐ Eat plenty of vegetables and fruit – aim for at least five portions a day.
☐ Replace butter, lard and ghee with vegetable oils and spreads.

Get more active

- ☐ Aim for 30 minutes five times a week so that you raise your heart beat. Activities such as gardening, housework and walking all count.

Stop smoking

- ☐ For help giving up ask for your local stop smoking service.
